Learning Outcomes:

At the conclusion of this workshop participants will.....

- ◆ Possess techniques to communicate effectively across cultural lines.
- ◆ Be aware of how to confront prejudice in themselves and others.
- ◆ Be aware of the impact of discrimination on those who have experienced it.
- ◆ Know how to foster cooperation and resolve conflict in cross cultural situations.
- ◆ Action plan in order to apply new learning derived from today's workshop to the workplace.

Description

Now that the country has elected its first black president many Americans believe that racism in the US is a thing of the past. Is it? Long-delayed conversations about racism are beginning to surface at work and at home. Join us for a stimulating discussion and discover...

- ◆ Why those who still harbor racist thinking are often unaware of their own biases.
- ◆ How to confront racism without provoking defensiveness.
- ◆ What makes some people unapologetically cling to their racist beliefs?
- ◆ When to examine your own thinking about race in America.

About the Trainer

Lou Vincent is the Products and Production Manager with the firm of Rizzo & Associates. He has also served the firm as a trainer and consultant for over a decade.

Prior to coming to Rizzo & Associates, he was employed as a Supervisory Administrator at Boys Village, a residential treatment center for adolescent boys in Smithville, Ohio. He holds a certification in Organizational Behavior from Herriot Watt University in Scotland and is currently a Master's Candidate in their MBA program.

Lou's "pleasing personality" and down-to-earth wisdom make for an insight-provoking, pleasant, and interesting training experience. He has conducted over 2500 seminars with audiences from governmental institutions, health care facilities, and associations. He specializes in the topics of diversity, human resource development, systems approaches and workplace violence.
